

Biography

Michelle Strange, RDH, MSDH, brings 18 years of experience in dentistry to her roles as adjunct clinical faculty member at Trident Technical College, Educational and Professional Relations Manager for TePe Oral Health Care, Inc., and host of A Tale of Two Hygienists Podcast. Her experience as a hygienist and surgical assistant led to her full-time career with TePe after six years of considerable success and patient compliance with their product.

Michelle's research has been published in multiple publications and, additionally, she has appeared in the Lifetime Network's "Access Health," Health Briefs TV, and Educational Videos by TePe Oral Health Care, Inc. Her podcast, A Tale of Two Hygienists, aimed to inform and inspire the dental community, was ranked the #1 Dental Podcast two years in a row.

A graduate of the Medical University of South Carolina with a Bachelors of Health Science and the Fones School of Dental Hygiene with a Masters in Dental Hygiene Education, Michelle focuses her career on the educational aspect of patient care. As adjunct faculty at Trident Technical College, she cultivates student and colleague knowledge of interdisciplinary collaboration between medical professionals and caretakers. Her passion for dentistry and its connection to overall health extends to her community and global efforts, most notably in her work as a weekly dental hygienist volunteer with Our Lady of Mercy in Johns Island, South Carolina, and dental mission trip participant with the Charleston-based OneWorld Health.

To learn more or collaborate, visit her website at www.michellestrangerdh.com or email her at MichRDH05@gmail.com.